

Solid Waste Funding

A Guide to Federal Assistance

EPA Wants To Help

This brochure describes a variety of federal funding sources for solid waste research and management programs available to state and local governments, the general public, and small businesses. This funding is available from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and other federal agencies.

Most of the funding available from EPA is in the form of financial awards called grants and cooperative agreements for nonprofit entities, universities, and state and local governments. These awards can be money, property, services, or anything of value to the applicant.

EPA awards grants and cooperative agreements based on a review of an applicant's proposal and a determination of how well the project meets Agency criteria. Under cooperative agreements, EPA and the applicant negotiate the work to be conducted and the requirements that must be met. Some grant/cooperative agreement proposals are made in response to solicitations (requests for proposals) by EPA, while others are sent to EPA independently without any call for proposals. In many cases, the grantee is required to match a portion of the federal money.

In addition, some business funding mechanisms are available. EPA has an annual grant solicitation and the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has three loan programs.

This brochure briefly describes each grant, cooperative agreement, and loan program for solid waste activities. Each description includes contact phone numbers and addresses for more information. Phone numbers for EPA regional offices, referenced in some funding descriptions, are listed on the inside back cover.

EPA-Administered Nonprofit Grants And Cooperative Agreements

Three different EPA-administered grants and cooperative agreements are available:

- Grants specific to solid waste activities. EPA's Office of Solid Waste (OSW) and regional offices administer these grants directly.
- Grants for one or more environmental program (i.e., solid waste, water, and/or air). EPA offices other than OSW administer these grants.
- Consolidation grants for state, local, and tribal programs relating to a specific function (such as permitting) across all media (i.e., solid waste, water, and air permitting consolidated grants). These grants are not addressed in this brochure.

Contact your EPA regional office (see inside back cover) or EPA's Grants Administration Division (see page 7) for more information.

Environmental Education Grants Program (Annual Grants Solicitation)

Goal: To support projects to design, demonstrate, or disseminate practices, methods, or techniques related to environmental education and training. (Note: not limited to solid waste).

Amounts: Approximately 25 percent of grants are $5,000 or less; some are over $25,000. There is a 25 percent matching funds requirement.

Eligibility: Local or state education agencies, colleges or universities, state environmental agencies, tribal education agencies, and nonprofit organizations.

Deadlines: Vary from year to year.

Contact: For more information, and to get on the mailing list for the annual solicitation, contact EPA, Office of Environmental Education (1704), Ariel Rios Building, 1200 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20460; Phone: 202 260-8619; Fax: 202 260-4095; Web: <www.epa.gov/enviroed>.

Environmental Protection Consolidated Research

(Unsolicited Grants and Cooperative Agreements)

Goal: To support research to determine the environmental effects and, therefore, the control requirements associated with hazardous waste, air quality, acid deposition, drinking water, water quality, toxic substances, and pesticides.

Amounts: Range from $5,000 to $2 million.

Eligibility: The program is available to states, territories, and possessions of the United States, and to the District of Columbia, for public and private state universities and colleges, hospitals, laboratories, state and local government departments, other public or private nonprofit institutions, and individuals who have demonstrated exceptional scientific ability.

Deadlines: None.

Contact: EPA, Director, National Center for Environmental Research and Quality Assurance (8701), Ariel Rios Building, 1200 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20460; Phone: 202 564-6825; Fax: 202 565-2444.

Solid Waste Disposal Research

(Unsolicited Grants and Cooperative Agreements)

Goal: To support and promote the coordination of research and development in the area of collection, storage, utilization, salvage, or final disposal of solid waste.

Amounts: Approximately $5,000 to $250,000, with matching funds of 5 percent of total project cost.

Eligibility: Public or private agencies in states, territories, and possessions of the United States; public, private, and state universities and colleges; local governments; and individuals. Profit-making organizations are ineligible.

Deadlines: None.

Contact: Your EPA regional office's RCRA/waste management section (see inside back cover).

Tribal Open Dump Cleanup Project

(Cleanup Project)

Goal: To assist tribes with completing and implementing comprehensive, integrated waste management plans; developing realistic solid waste management alternatives; closing or upgrading existing open dumps; and developing post-closure programs.

Amounts: Approximately $1 million to $2 million (varies yearly).

Eligibility: Any federal tribal organization.

Deadline: None.

Contact: Your EPA Solid Waste Grant Program or regional solid waste Indian coordinator (see inside back cover).

Business Assistance

Some grant and loan funding also is available specifically for businesses. The criteria for qualifying as a small business can vary; contact the organizations listed below if you need more information.

National Industrial Competitiveness Through Energy, Environment, and Economics (NICE3) (Annual Grants Solicitation)

Goal: To provide seed money to support new processes and/or equipment that can increase energy efficiency, reduce pollution, and improve process economics.

Amounts: Industry/state awardees receive a one-time grant up to a maximum of $525,000. Industrial partners may receive a maximum of $500,000 in federal funding with industry/state partnerships providing 50 percent matching funds.

Eligibility: Industry, with assistance from a state energy or pollution prevention office, to test, demonstrate, and assess the feasibility of new processes and/or equipment with rapid deployment into the marketplace.

Deadlines: Annually; deadlines vary.

Contact: U.S. Department of Energy, Golden, Colorado Field Office, 1617 Cole Boulevard, Golden, CO 80401; Phone: 303 275-4728; Fax: 303 275-4788; Web: www.oit.doe.gov/Access/nice3.
